

PARENTS INTERACTING WITH INFANTS (PIWI)

PIWI is an early intervention model based on the premise that early development occurs within the context of the family and primary attachment relationships; consequently, the most important environment for early learning and development is the parent-child relationship.

The PIWI model is primarily a philosophy and process, and its primary purpose is to facilitate an optimal environment for learning and development through three key components for young children and their primary caregivers: competence, confidence and mutual enjoyment.

About the NJEIS PIWI Series

This professional development opportunity is being offered at no cost to you.

Each series includes four - 3 hour long sessions.

*Please ensure you can attend ALL 4 sessions before registering for a series. If you know you cannot attend all 4 sessions, you should wait to attend a future training series. TicketTailor will be updated with new training dates on an ongoing basis.

Register for a Training Series

Go to the TicketTailor website to register for an available training series. You can add your email to the wait list if a training is full, however this does not guarantee you a spot for the training.

The PIWI training is a series comprised of four 3-hour virtual sessions. You must attend all four 3-hour sessions to receive credit for the training.

Confirmation Email

You will receive a confirmation email after you register. If the email does not appear in your inbox, please check your junk mail folder. If you are still unable to locate the email, follow-up with Renee Budniak at renee@snjreic.org.

Prior to each session, you will receive an email including the Zoom link, PowerPoint PDF in addition to several other attachments.

Interactive Training

The training will be facilitated through the Zoom video conferencing platform. For an optimal experience, ensure you have the most up-to-date version downloaded to your device.

Participants are required to have their cameras on during the training. Participants will be asked to engage in a variety of ways including using the chat, answering polls, and watching videos. Using a smart phone to participate in this training is strongly discouraged.

Day of the Training

Participants are strongly encouraged to log on early to ensure audio and webcams are functioning prior to the start of the training. The training link will be active 10 minutes prior to each scheduled session.

Looking forward to meeting and connecting with you!
- CSPD Team
